Mass Meeting of the Workingmen of Birmingham.

The Republican workingmen of Birmingham held a grand mass meeting in the Diamond, Birmingham, Saturday evening, which was addressed by C. L. Poorman, Esq., editor of the Belmont Chronicle, St. Clairsville, Ohio, General Negley and others.

A brass band and the Second Ward Glee Club were in attendance, and added largely to the enthusiasm.

The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock, and the following officers elected:

President—W. R. Hartzell, Esq.

Vice Presidents—John Redman, James McDonald, George Duncan, David McCutcheon, W. C. [illegible], John Phillips.

Secretaries—David Jones and Martin Shaefer.

The Glee Club sang the song entitled, "Grant, who led the Boys in Blue," which was received with loud cheers. There were then loud calls for another song, and the [illegible] was sung.

The Chairman then introduced Colonel Poorman, of Ohio, bespeaking for him a warm reception. The Colonel spoke as follows:

SPEECH OF COL. POORMAN.

WORKINGMEN OF BIRMINGHAM AND CITIZENS OF AMERICA: I come among you to-night as a workingman; twenty years ago, as a mechanic, I labored in your Iron City, and felt identified with labor and a warm interest in its success. I come among you to-night, feeling that if I have any sympathies that run more warmly to any one class of my countrymen than another they are the sympathies that run to the citizens of the great laboring classes of the country. [Hear, hear.] Labor is that which produces the wealth of the nation and because it does it is the basis upon which rests our true power and greatness. As the laboring element of a country is prosperous a country is prosperous. That government which forgets to succor and protect the great controlling interested labor, forgets to succor and protect that upon which its very existence as a nation depends. [Cheers.]

In this Government of ours there have been as yet no parties organized exclusively in the interests of labor. Other great issues have always occupied the attention of the people of this country and protection to labor has been an incidental—has been only one of the ideas actuating parties. You cannot to-day organize a party whose sole object shall be to reduce the hours of the workingman, or enhance the price of his day's labor. Whatever may have been possible in the party, or whatever may in the future of your country become possible; at the close of the great civil war, that threatened the very existence of our country, there are issues of vital importance that occupy the attention of the people; issues that will occupy that attention until they shall have been fully and completely settled. It is the privilege, however, of labor to identify itself in this country with the party that looks after its interests. It is the privilege of labor efficiently to secure an advancement of its interests by identifying itself with a party that will protect labor—that will legislate in the interests of labor.

Look at the history of your country; look at the history of the parties that to-day present themselves for your suffrages, as independent voters, and which of these parties has done most to advance the interests of labor? The Democratic party has ever voted against measures for the protection of labor and American industry; it has ever been the enemy of internal improvements; it has ever been the enemy of those movements which develop your nation as a nation and give power to it and immense labor to the working classes of the community. It is the party of this great country that advocated, that sustained the theory that capital should own its own labor. It is the party that in the great conflict through which we have just passed upheld that system of aristocracy that looked upon labor as the "mud-sill" upon which society should be built; that sustained that institution in the country which degraded labor, that destroyed its respectability, and that militated thoroughly and completely against its success; it was the party that sought to use the power of the Government to fill all the vast territories of the West with the slave labor of the South; it is that party whose legislation, whatever its profession may have been, has always been against the interests of labor, and tended to advance the interests of aristocracy and capital. On the other hand, this young Giant party, that saved your country in the strife through which we have just passed, from falling a prey to armed treason and that rebellion that was formed in the interests of slavery, and would have built upon it a confederacy whose chief corner stone should be human bondage. The Republican party has carried out measures for the development of your resources, while even in the midst of a terrific war; it has bound the Atlantic to the Pacific coast by iron bands, that have brought the hidden resources of those from mountains to your furnaces and factories, to be moulded and increase your wealth. It is the party that has declared that, in this great Government, every man, no matter how poor, shall have all the rights and all the protection accorded to the wealthiest. [Applause.] It has opened the best fields of the West to your enterprise, by shutting out from them competition of slave labor. From the record of these parties, as they have made that record in the interest of labor, it is your duty to enroll yourselves under the banner of the Republican party in this contest, because in its success labor must expect its future protection.

The speaker then proceeded to say that there were other reasons why the laboring man should support the Republican party in this contest—political reasons, and every man who loved his country, and was desirous of its prosperity, should be influenced by political considerations in the casting of his vote. The record of the Democratic and Republican parties was then reviewed, and the platform of the Democratic Convention at New York thoroughly ventilated. It proposed to pay the National debt as fast as practicable, which meant, judging from their past acts, that it should never be paid, for the party believed it never ought to be paid. Never had there been a time in the history of the nation when the obligations of the Government were not outstanding. In 1790 the debt was seventy-five millions in round numbers; in 1837 seventeen millions, in [illegible] three hundred thousand, in 1861 ninety millions, and in August, 1868, two thousand four hundred and ninety-one millions, less the Pacific Railroad debt, for which the Government is nominally responsible, but which must be paid interest and principal by the company.

There had never in this country been any necessity for advocating the theory of repudiation of the public indebtedness and the interest, and there had never been a party, outside of South Carolina, that advocated the taxing of government securities until the Democratic party in 1868 made all three of these propositions. The government was able to discharge all its obligations. The Democratic party claimed that by the payment of the bonds in greenbacks they would save one hundred and twenty-four millions of dollars to the tax-payers of the country. Seven hundred millions of these bonds were held in Europe. As soon as the government would propose to pay these bonds in greenbacks these foreign holders would send their seven hundred millions of bonds to this country to be exchanged in greenbacks; they would take these greenbacks and buy gold to the amount of three hundred and fifty millions or whatever they could get, and would say why look at it; we have loaned your government seven hundred millions of money and in a single transaction have lost half of it; we propose to invest it hereafter where we will not be cheated. Three hundred and fifty millions of gold is at once taken out of the country to pay for this. Two millions of gold had been shipped by the government a few years ago to pay for Alaska and this made a rise in gold of ten per cent. What would be the effect if three hundred and fifty millions was taken out of the country?

An extract was quoted from Mr. Seymour's speech in Albany, where the Democratic candidate pictured out the evil consequences that would result from an inflated currency, and then discussed the question of taxation referring to the speech of Mr. Pendleton at Bangor, Maine, where that gentleman had said at the commencement of his speech that he had seen through the West, and in his own State, evidences of prosperity, and then a little while after said, why is it that this wail of distress is heard, and that every interest of the country is paralyzed? This was worse than demagoguism—it was an attempt to make the people believe what their own sense would tell them was not true.

The question of reconstruction was discussed and the speaker closed his speech with an earnest exhortation to the laboring men to support the Republican ticket and vote for their gallant soldier candidate, General Negley.

Col. Poorman spoke for over an hour, and was frequently cheered.

SPEECH OF GENERAL NEGLEY.

There were loud calls for General Negley, who made a brief and earnest speech, urging upon the workingmen the importance of laboring to secure the success of the Republican ticket. The General was loudly cheered.

SPEECH OF MAJOR MONTOOTH.

Major E. A. Montooth was loudly called for, and made a brief speech, urging the importance of thorough organization, and expressing a firm conviction that the Republicans would carry the State by a large majority.

Republican Mass Meeting in Allegheny.

A grand rally of the Republicans of Allegheny was held on Saturday evening, in front of Gerst's Hall, at the corner of Madison avenue and Second street. Considering the inclement state of the weather, the meeting was one of the largest of the campaign, and is an exhibit of the interest taken by the loyal citizens of our sister city in the great issues of the day. The German element was very largely represented at the meeting, and shows that that portion of our fellow-citizens are alive to the work. The Germania Brass Band was in attendance and interspersed the speeches with National airs, which they rendered in an excellent manner.

The meeting was called to order at half-past seven o'clock, and was organized by the election of the following officers:

President—James McBrier.

Vice Presidents—John Stevens, Mr. Blair, John Myers, Frederick Lang, Mr. Guppert, [illegible], James Park, Jr., William Boyd, [illegible], Col. David L. Smith, S. Riddle, G. Hoffman.

Secretaries—Henry Bork, A. J. Pentecost and the reporters of the Republican Press.

Upon taking the chair, Mr. McBrier briefly thanked the meeting for the honor conferred upon him in electing him to preside, and then introduced H. P. Mueller, Esq., who made an address in German, speaking for about half an hour on the general issues of the day, drawing forth the plaudits of the German portion of the audience.

Jacob H. Miller, Esq., was next introduced and made a very able argument, of about half an hour's duration. He discussed the general issues involved in the campaign, comparing the platforms of the two parties seeking the suffrages of the people of this nation. He also compared the character and past record of the candidates of the respective parties for the Presidency and Vice Presidency. He denounced Seymour as a man undeserving of the support of loyal men, and paid a high tribute to the character, ability and past record of General Grant, whom he characterized as the greatest man of the age. The speaker concluded with an able discussion of the bond question, and held that the greenback dodge of the Democrats was a mere trick to catch the votes of the unwary ones.

Major J. L. [illegible] was next called upon and made a short but pertinent speech. He said that a great battle was now going on in this country, not, perhaps, now so horrible in its nature as the one we have just passed through, which is the battle of the ballot. This battle of the ballot, though peaceful as it seems now, determines wheter we are to have a permanent or lasting peace, or another civil war. It is as much the duty of every loyal man in this land to go to the ballot box this Fall as it was for him to join the Union forces during the late rebellion. We are to determine by our ballots this Fall whether or not we shall reap the fruits of the victory gained against rebellion. Elect Grant and Colfax and you will have a peace founded on a solid basis; but elect Seymour and Blair and you will be placed in the same position you were from 1861 to 1865.

Hon. James L. Graham was the last speaker, and held the audience in close attention for three-quarters of an hour in an able and eloquent argument. The speaker turned his attention principally to the Reconstruction acts of Congress, and entered into a lengthy discussion of the fourteenth article of the Constitution. He held that the national debt should ever be held inviolate, while the rebel debt should never be paid. The bounties due to the brave boys in blue, who had been crippled for life while in their country's defense, or otherwise rendered unfit for labor for the remainder of their lives by the misfortunes of war, should all be paid. These were some of the institutions the Democrats are now endeavoring to have abolished, and it is for loyal men to judge which party is deserving of their suffrages.

At the conclusion of Senator Graham's speech, the meeting adjourned with three for the whole ticket.

Republican Pole Raising and Meeting in the Sixteenth Ward.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Republicans of the Sixteenth ward (late Bloomfield) was held at the Wigwam on Saturday evening, and notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather it was a very large one. A very large and handsome pole had been raised at the Wigwam during the afternoon, and at eight o'clock Mr. A. R. Boal, President of the Grant and Colfax Club of that ward, ran up a beautiful flag amid the cheers of the assemblage. The meeting was then organized by the election of the following officers:

President—A. R. Boal.

Vice Presidents—Robert Watson, John Gangwisch, Wm. Woolslayer, Richard Kirkwood, N. J. Craig, Geo. W. Humbert, Geo. Pretsch, Wm. C. Barr, Thos. Merkel, Benjamin Schmidt, John C. Stewart, Samuel Mckinley and Mr. Holman.

Secretaries—Reporters of the Press.

The Chairman introduced Thomas Howard, Esq., who proceeded to address the meeting. Mr. Howard said that he had just returned from Ohio, where he had been speaking for Grant and Colfax. He found our friends out there thoroughly organized, and this was well. We are just entering upon one of the most important campaigns of our history. The speaker sketched the history of principal leaders of the Democratic party, and imputed to them our national troubles. He then discussed the merits of the members of the New York Convention. He found Pendleton there, who boasted that he never voted a man or a dollar for the suppression of the rebellion. Pendleton clamored about paying the soldiers in gold when he knew there was no gold. He was opposed to the issuing of greenbacks. He said at that time it was unconstitutional to issue greenbacks when they were needed. Now when they are not needed, he says it is perfectly constitutional to issue them—even to the amount of two thousand millions. The rebel debt has been repudiated, and these rebels were seeking to ruin our credit and depreciate our securities. If it could not be done directly, it might be done indirectly. We fought the Northern rebels in 1864 at the ballot box. Now we have to fight both Northern and Southern rebels. The Democratic party at New York had surrendered to Wade Hampton, and he dictated to them a platform.

The speaker then referred to Seymour, whom he characterized as a demagogue and unfitted for the Presidency. Seymour said in New York during the war, if it were impossible to save the Union without destroying slavery, he would prefer to let the Union be dissolved. After the war the Democrats claimed that the Southern rebels should be admitted at once to the Union. It is not just to the honest, and loyal that rebels should go unpunished. There was no question about this. When in the history of the world was it otherwise? There would now be no question about it, but the Democracy, anxious for power and plunder, court the favor of and seek the aid of these rebels. Mr. Howard then proceeded to discuss the constitutional amendments, which he did in a masterly manner. He said that had it not been for these amendments the South would have gained by the rebellion. Before the war the South had representatives for three-fifths of the negroes; after emancipation they would have representatives for all; yet deprive them of a vote? At the conclusion of his speech three hearty cheers and a tiger were given for the speaker.

Mr. J. H. Morris then sang a campaign song to the tune of "John Brown," the whole meeting joining in the chorus.

J. S. Lambie, Esq., was called upon for a speech. He opened with expressions of inability of entertaining the meeting after what had been said by Mr. Howard, but the close attention paid by the meeting to every expression proved that his remarks were forcible and patriotic, and were the sentiments of all who heard him. The speaker then compared to the meeting the character of the candidates before the American people—the man who said on the battlefield "no surrender," and the man who holds it as his opinion that the Republic and the whole war are failures. He appealed to them if they were in favor of trusting their Government in the hands of such a man as the latter. He then urged the citizens of the Sixteenth ward to continue to perfect their organizations, to lead to the fullest and most complete victory in November. The meeting adjourned with cheers for the whole ticket.

Grant Club in Wilkins Township.

An adjourned meeting of the Republicans of Wilkins township was held on Saturday evening, in the Wilkinsburg School House, for the purpose of completing the organization of a Grant and Colfax Club.

James Kelly, Esq., was called to the Chair, and John Black and Wm. Anderson were appointed Secretaries.

R. J. Powers, Esq., delivered an excellent address, in which he proved that the Democratic party of to-day had not a single principle or doctrine incorporated in their platform, for which they contended in the days of Jackson. He sketched their course all through the late war, and held that, from the beginning of the rebellion to the close, it would have been a safe rule for every patriot to vote directly against the Democrats, and they would be sure to be right. The speaker dwelt upon the composition of the Democratic party of to-day—the Northern wing being made up mainly of men who kept up a constant fire in the rear of the "boys in blue," and the Southern wing being composed of the very same men who had led the rebel armies and filled the rebel ranks, shooting, murdering and starving Union men for four years, and are now engaged in the bloody business of cutting the throats of all loyal men in the South, who dare announce themselves openly for Grant and Colfax.

Col. Russell Errett was next introduced, and entertained the audience for over three-quarters of an hour. He contrasted, in a forcible manner, the characters of Grant and Seymour; sketched the career of both men, from the beginning of the war to the close; showed the patriotism of Grant as unmistakably exhibited in his military record, and the disloyalty of Seymour and his sympathy with the rebels as openly expressed in his public acts and speeches. The entire course of General Grant, from the time he raised his little company at the beginning of the war, and tendered his services to the Governor of Illinois, till he compelled the surrender of Gen. Lee, proved him a gallant soldier and a true patriot; while the record of Seymour stamped him as an aider and abettor of treason, and therefore a traitor to his country. The speaker concluded by urging upon the Republicans of the district the importance of thorough organization, and above all the necessity for getting every voter out on the day of the October election.

Both the speakers were attentively listened to, and loudly applauded.

John H. Hampton, Esq., then made a few remarks upon the necessity of immediate organization, and proposed the following permanent officers for the club:

President—Dr. John Sample.

Vice Presidents—James Kelly, James McKelvy, Duncan Hamilton, Wm. A. Shaw, Alexander Gordon, Robert Milligan and Colonel Samuel Elder.

Secretaries—Wm. Anderson and John McFarlane.

Treasurer—I. G. McFarlane.

The nominations were unanimously confirmed, and Dr. Sample, on signifying his willingness to accept the position, thanked his fellow Republicans for this expression of their confidence, and promised to discharge the duties to the best of his ability.

The Club then adjourned to meet again on Saturday evening next, when good speakers will be present, and appropriate music will be furnished. A stand will be erected in the open air, and all who attend will have an opportunity to hear the speeches.

Republican Rally in Millvale Borough—Speeches by Hon. Russell Errett, Hon. J. L. Graham and Miles S. Humphreys.

The Union Republicans of the new borough of Millvale (late Duquesne) held a very interesting meeting in the public school house on Friday evening last.

The meeting was organized by calling Edward Coats to the chair and electing Jno. Briner, Josiah Riley and Hugh Woods as Vice Presidents. Samuel F. Ketler was appointed secretary.

The Chairman thanked the meeting for the honor conferred on him, in calling him to preside, and introduced as the first speaker Hon. Russell Errett.

The speaker during his remarks ably reviewed the course of the two parties, and the actions of the several candidates during the war. He also referred to the parties who now constituted the Democratic party in the South, and held that the northern wing of the Democracy was but a type of their party in the South. He also took occasion to say that the Republicans, although they had charge of the Government during a bloody strife, nevertheless they had upheld it, and maintained it, and finally restored peace to this once almost distracted land. The Democrats while they were in power and when peace reigned brought on the trouble, which culminated and ended in the war of the rebellion. They allowed States to go out of the Union and said there was no power in the Constitution to coerce them. This with other things led to the strife, which no sensible man will dispute was caused by the Democracy. But our foes were conquered, although a sea of blood ensued, and peace was restored. Now that same party came before the people and ask their vote to elevate them to power. Can such things be in an enlightened community. The speaker answered in the negative and said he hoped to see the assertion ratified in November next.

Hon. James L. Graham next addressed the meeting. He called on all the good Democrats present and everywhere to pause and consider—to consider carefully and thoughtfully the important issues now before the American people before casting their votes for Seymour and Blair. If they thought the country was safe in the hands of General Grant, as a great many had said it was, why not entrust it entirely to his care by electing him Chief Magistrate of these United States? for in him there are characteristics which will never be surpassed. If the people are satisfied with what good had already been wrought under the superintendence of our gallant standard-bearer, who now heads our column, and who, we trust, will lead us to victory in November next, why not let him continue to work for our good, and in the manner as prescribed in the platform adopted by loyal Unionists and sacred heroes at Chicago not long ago? The voice of the people say he shall rule, and that "loyalty shall govern what loyalty has preserved."

When the speaker called on the Democrats everywhere to pause and consider before casting their votes for Seymour and Blair, he did it with the belief that they would realize the fact that the country would not be safe in any hands than those of Grant and Colfax. The surroundings certainly indicated such a state of affairs. Many Democrats, he thought, after thinking twice before action, would vote for Grant and Colfax. The Senator spoke for over an hour to a very attentive audience.

The next speaker was Miles S. Humphreys. The remarks of the speaker were directed mainly to the workmen assembled in the school house, of which there were a goodly number present. The so-called Labor Reform party was taken up and discussed in its true political light, and the result of the exhibition was that the meeting were satisfied beyond a doubt as to who composed that party. Defunct Republicans, half in half Democrats, and any number of "Know-Nothings" made up that party, but not a man could be found in the ranks who was a straight out Republican or Democrat. The toiling masses present listened to the remarks of the speaker with the greatest attention, and from the expression apparent in their sturdy faces, it was evident they sanctioned and agreed to every word that was dropped.

At the conclusion of Mr. Humphries' speech Mr. Brown moved that the meeting adjourn until next Friday evening, at which time they will re-assemble for the purpose of organizing a Grant and Colfax Club.

The motion was adopted and the meeting adjourned.

A MALICIOUS ACT AND ITS CONSEQUENCES. A young man named Henry Bier, while partially intoxicated, concluded to give an evidence of his striking abilities yesterday afternoon, and with his whole force ran both his fists through the panels of a window at the corner of Webster and Duncan streets, in the Eleventh ward, demolishing both the panels and glass. The consequence was, he came nigh losing his life from the loss of blood, caused by both his hands and wrists being cut very severely in several places by the broken glass. He was taken to the Mayor's office, where Dr. Rogers was summoned and dressed his injuries. The foolish young man was then placed in a cell.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING.—Wm. Cranson, who has a stand in the Allegheny market, and who lives a short distance down the Ohio river, made a narrow escape from drowning on Saturday. He was bringing up a small boat load of mellons to market, propelling the boat with a pole. As he was passing the Glass House Riffle, his pole slipped and he was precipitated into the river. He was unable to swim and would have drowned had it not been for the prompt assistance rendered him by Mr. Daniel Burns, who was in the other end of the boat, and who jumped in and rescued him.

In putting the Commercial in a new typographical suit to-day, we have transposed the Market and Financial reports from the fourth to the third page. [illegible]

THE report that a September session of Congress has been agreed upon, was premature. The question has not been determined as yet. Present appearances are against an Autumn session.

THERE will be a meeting of the Republicans of Allegheny, in the Diamond, this evening, which will be addressed by Hon. DARWIN PHELPS, candidate for Congress in the Twenty-third District, THOMAS M. MARSHALL, Esq., and Governor JOHN W. GEARY. This will be Mr. PHELPS' first appearance before the Republicans of that portion of the District, and he will be greeted by a large audience.

A CHANGE OF FRONT.

Fully alive to the necessities of the hour, alarmed at the outburst of scorn which has been aroused by the utterances of leaders like HAMPTON, FORREST, TOOMBS, SEMMES and their followers, the Northern leaders of the Democracy have taken council together and concluded there must be a change of front, or the appearance of it, in the South. The movement, we may add, has been put in motion with a celerity not unlike that which characterizes a "bout face" when executed by well disciplined troops.

Instead of exciting the apprehensions of thinking men throughout the North and South by ill-advised and worse conceived utterances, it is now judged best to administer sedatives in the shape of mildly expressed regrets on the part of the "high-toned" and heretofore silent gentlemen whose fortune frowned upon during the closing hours of the rebellion. The reader, we trust, will acquit us of any malicious motive in exercising due discretion in the choice of language when he is reminded that the "gentlemen" alluded to embrace no less illustrious personages than General ROBERT E. LEE, and many others who evinced, in word and action, the fullest recognition of the principles espoused by him during the progress of the war. It is not at all necessary to enumerate the list—the names will occur to any intelligent reader; besides, since we are speaking of strictly high-minded, chivalrous gentlemen, who are, in the truest sense of the word, also men of culture, courtesy forbids the mentioning of names.

[illegible]

But you forget one thing.

You forget that there is such a thing as history. [illegible]

SEYMOUR, BLAIR AND REPUDIATION.

SMALL NOTES.

We do not favor the theory which punishes the innocent for the deeds committed by the guilty, but we reiterate the opinion that kindness to our pioneers and justice to the savages who have outraged them demands that the forces at the disposal of Gen. Sheridan be permitted to pursue the latter until they are disarmed and rendered perfectly obedient. Nothing but the severest measures can bring these savages to a realizing sense of their crimes against humanity. General Wayne understood this, and governed his actions accordingly. Sheridan is, in many respects, similar to that fearless Indian fighter, and if permitted to carry out his own ideas upon the subject will put an effectual stop to the depredations of the savages ere six months elapse. Driving them south of the Kansas line is not enough: we desire to see them whipped into obedience.

Maretzek, although the victim of much ill luck, is not disposed to give up, having already completed his arrangements for an operatic campaign, beginning at Chicago on the 28th of September. He will control two complete troupes—one for Italian and one for German opera—and give three Italian and four German performances a week. The following artists appear on his lists: Mme. De La Grange, Mme. Natali, Mlle. Collini (new to America), Mlle. Durand, Miss McCulloch, Signori Brignoli, Ronconi, Pirelli, Orlandini, and Antonucci, Mme. Rotter, and Habelmann and Hermanns. We wonder if Pittsburgh will be honored by Mr. Maretzek? It is said he intends to leave New York out in the cold. What if he should treat us in the same way? Mr. Bateman having organized his troupe for the traveling season of opera bouffe, he will commence in Montreal to-night. On reading the list of the company, which includes Tostee, Lambele, Rose, Mathilde, Duree, Guillon, Leduc, Duchesne and Lagriffoul, one wonders who is left to entertain the New Yorkers in "Barbe Bleue."

It is to be feared that either Mr. Parton is not read in England, or that the people of that country do not properly appreciate his efforts to reform the world. At any rate, we read that at one of the last sittings of the House of Commons a bill was passed making it compulsory on every railway in Great Britain to provide compartments for smokers. Notwithstanding Mr. Parton's efforts, it is likely that most of people will regard this, in [illegible] parlance, a "step in the right direction," a formal recognition of smoking and the rights of smokers, quite indefinitely postponing the proposed abolition of the weed. The smoking car bids fair to become an institution, not only in England, but the United States, where nearly everybody smokes, or will smoke—for there is no knowing what will come of Womens' Rights—when they obtain them.

The frail women who are to the Pope's troops a worse enemy than the revolutionists, have been driven by the order of His Holiness out of the lines and even beyond the borders of the Roman States. Concerning them a correspondent writes: "It is impossible to describe the miserable condition of those who are driven over the frontier, where they are left in the woods or on the roads, without money or food, and in some cases, almost naked."

LEGAL TENDER ACT.

Forthcoming Decision of the Supreme Court and Its Probable Effects.

The Nation seems to what it understands will be the decision of the United States Supreme Court on the Legal Tender act, to wit: that said act is unconstitutional, to consider the probable effects of such a decision on the country. The decision is not likely to be on the naked question—is the Legal Tender act Constitutional?—but on the rights of individuals, whereby the question will be virtually decided. The Nation puts it in this way:

GEORGE HARDING, Philadelphia, Pa.

This Company, National in its character, offers, by reason of its Large Capital, Low Rates of Premium and New Tables, the most desirable means of insuring life yet presented to the public.

The rates of premium, being largely reduced, are made as favorable to the insurers as those of the best Mutual Companies, and avoid all the complications and uncertainties of Notes, Dividends and the misunderstandings which the latter are so apt to cause the Policy-Holders.

Several new and attractive tables are now presented which need only to be understood to prove acceptable to the public, such as the INCOME-PRODUCING POLICY and RETURN PREMIUM POLICY. In the former, the policy-holder not only secures a Life Insurance, payable at death, but will receive, if living, after a period of a few years, an annual income equal to ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the par of his policy. In the latter, the Company agrees to return to the assured the total amount of money he has paid in, in addition to the amount of his policy.

The attention of persons contemplating insuring their lives or increasing the amount of insurance they already have, is called to the special advantages offered by the National Life Insurance Company.

Circulars, Pamphlets and full particulars given on application to the Branch Office of the Company in Philadelphia, or to its General Agents.

☞ LOCAL AGENTS ARE WANTED in every City and Town; and applications from competent parties for such agencies, with suitable indorsement, should be addressed TO THE COMPANY'S GENERAL AGENTS ONLY, in their respective districts.

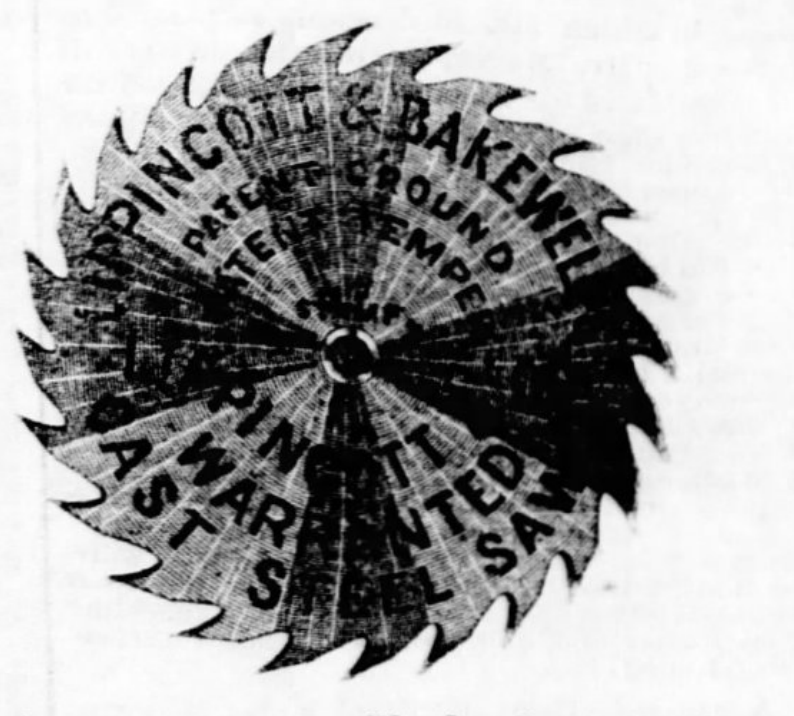
GET A GOOD SAW.



And Your Mill will do Good Work.

Our Saws are Oil Tempered, Patent Ground, made to Run well.

You will find each Saw of one Temper, no Hard and Soft Spots in the same Saw.

We accomplish this by our Patent Tempering Process, and you can not get this from any other Saw Maker, as we own the Patents for the United States.

We do not claim to make a cheaper Saw than any one else, but one that will run at the word GO, and will give no trouble, and will keep round longer, because being uniform with Temper, it will not wear on one side faster than the other.

We invite correspondence, or an interview with the practical man of your firm.

DR. SARGENT'S BACKACHE PILLS

A CERTAIN AND RELIABLE REMEDY FOR ALL DISEASES OF THE Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Organs.

Any derangement or obstruction of these Organs is quickly followed by acute suffering, which, if not corrected immediately, will be followed by the most disastrous consequences. Nature herself will not rally from any prostration of these organs, but must be assisted by the use of a Diuretic; as such

Stand pre-eminent, having proved themselves superior to any medicine yet discovered for affections of the Kidneys, &c.

Read the following testimony in their favor:

GEO. A. KELLY—Dear Sir: I was so badly afflicted with pain in the kidneys that I could hardly turn myself in bed, and breathing also caused me severe pain. I had given up hopes of ever getting well again, when I bought a box of DR. SARGENT'S BACKACHE PILLS, which at once relieved me, and I believe they have been the means of the cure. I have also recommended them to others where like complaints were made, and they have in every case proved efficacious. I cheerfully recommend them to any one suffering from this trouble, as I believe they are the best medicine for this class of diseases I have ever heard of. Any further information can be obtained by seeing me at Outer Depot, Pennsylvania Railroad, or at my residence, No. 55 Arthurs street.

PITTSBURGH MERCHANTS.

An Immense Establishment—Jos. Horne & Co.'s Trimming, Notion and Millinery Depot, 77 and 79 Market Street.

A citizen of Pittsburgh who has never been absent for any length of time can form but a slight idea of the rapid growth of this really great and prosperous city; but one who returns after years of absence is astonished to behold the rapid progress that has been made in every department of business and every section of the city. Localities that but a short time ago were parts of the "tangled forest" or grain covered field, are now the sites of smoking furnaces, rolling mills, iron and glass factories, oil refineries, or solid streets with their stately blocks of splendid stores or well built residences.

Keeping pace with the rapid and permanent growth of the city, many of our mercantile and manufacturing houses have expanded into mammoth and princely establishments. Several of these vast manufacturing houses have from time to time received ample notice in our columns, and we propose to-day to give some idea of one or two of our great leading mercantile establishments.

In the very first rank of our merchants we place the name of

JOSEPH HORNE & CO., 77 AND 79 MARKET STREET.

Mr. Joseph Horne, the senior member of the firm, commenced business in this city about seventeen years ago, and during all the intervening time it may be said to his credit as a fair dealing and honorable business man, that he has not made a single misstep nor has there arisen a single murmur of dissatisfaction among the thousands that have from time to time made up the list of his customers. And the same remarks may be made of every member of the present firm. Certainly no business house in Pennsylvania enjoys a purer reputation and better credit abroad or more implicit confidence at home than that of Jos. Horne & Co.

It seems to us that this would of itself amply repay years of patient energy and perseverance better than accumulated millions; but an unqualified business reputation is not the only reward of the tact, energy and fair dealing of this firm. They stand to-day the leading house in their line of business. The "Claflins" and "Stewarts" of Pittsburgh, controlling the largest business of the kind that we know of anywhere west of the mountains.

And there is no good reason why they should not continue to increase their business to an almost indefinite extent. Possessed of ample capital for almost any emergency, with a business experience of nearly a quarter of a century, and the accumulated prestige of popular favor, with the same energy and skill they have exerted in the past, they have reason to anticipate a future of unparalleled prosperity.

A Household Word.

[illegible]

Onward! Right Onward!

Into the Valley of Death,
Rode the six hundred.

But larger by hundred multiplied into millions than the doomed band who rode to swift destruction, in Tennyson's poem, is the great cavalcade who are riding into misery worse than death, hugging Fever and Ague, and other kindred diseases, when they can be successfully combatted and conquered forever by the use of Mishler's Herb Bitters, each individual at the same time thoroughly improving his or her system, purifying the blood and correcting the tone of the stomach with this Great Household Remedy, for the legitimate result of the use of Mishler's Herb Bitters is to ward off diseases arising from malarious causes, and to effect a radical cure where the disease has gained a foothold. It makes no difference how long the victim has suffered from his complaint, nor how violent the disease itself may be, Mishler's Herb Bitters will effect a speedy and permanent cure. Sold by all druggists and dealers. Dr. S. B. Hartman & Co., Proprietors, Lancaster, Pa. MWS

Depot for Mishler's Herb Bitters, McClarran & McKennan's, 85 Market, cor. Diamond.

The Family Favorite.

Ladies, be not deceived! The Family Favorite is the name of the new Weed Sewing Machine, manufactured at Hartford, Connecticut, with the initial letters "F. F." duly branded in gold upon each machine. It has well won the proud distinction to such a title, for, probably, no machine ever met with such an unprecedented success in so short a period of time. The Agency is on Grant street, opposite the Cathedral. Do not be persuaded to buy any others who borrow claims to such a title, but go and get the genuine Family Favorite at Long's, 112 Grant street.
